

Decision about the code of conduct for students at EMG

Decisions on the following points must be followed by students active in EMG's courses:

To be aware that you, together with other students and employees, must contribute to a good work environment. This means treating other students and staff respectfully.

To know and promote EMG's zero tolerance for harassment, discrimination, abusive behavior, and sexual harassment. If you become aware of these behaviors, you are responsible for contacting the course coordinator, study counselor, program coordinator, head of department, the student union, or the Legal Affairs Office.

To be academically honest in your studies. This means that you do not cheat, plagiarism, or other unethical actions in connection with examinations.

To know and follow Swedish legislation and Umeå University's internal rules and guidelines for students.
